

---

ARTICLES

Thank you for joining the ProjectManager.com.au community; we look forward to reading your articles.

ProjectManager.com.au prides itself on being an independent voice for the Australian and global project management community. We endeavour to publish editorial that is relevant, useful, insightful and thought-provoking for aspiring, practising and expert project managers.

BEFORE YOU BEGIN

- Send me your author bio (around 30 words)
- Send me your portrait (in .jpg or .png format)
- Send me the best URL for a link back to your website and/or social media profile

To be a contributor to ProjectManager.com.au we need you to promise that you won't try to spruik anything to our readership: that's for advertising, not articles. Brand value will come from your insightful contributions, in association with the information you provide in your bio and link back.

In return, we offer a platform for you to share your insights, supported by a dedicated online editor to drive traffic to your posts and lift your profile.

YOUR ARTICLE

A good ProjectManager.com.au article is:

- Between 1,000–1,800 words
- Focused clearly on one topic or issue
- Aimed at a project management readership

By providing content to us for this purpose you agree to assign first exclusive online rights to ProjectManager.com.au for one month. This means the first online appearance of the content is on our site for a period of one month: after that, you are free to re-post on other sites.

Any questions? Let me know at adeline.teoh@loyaltymedia.com.au or give me a call on (02) 9955 6311.

Adeline Teoh
Editor, ProjectManager.com.au